

Pensioen Pro

Synopsis issue #15 June/July 2017

Issue #15

Editorial copy deadline 9 June

Press 23 June

Delivery 6 July

News and current affairs:

- Editor's letter
- News in brief; mandate round-up
- Political news

Features in the 'Pensions' section:

- Pensioen Pro Awards On 22 June Pensioen Pro, Financieele Dagblad and IPE jointly host the Pensioen Pro Awards. Who are the winners of the Dutch industry's highest accolades? We take an in-depth look at the categories, their sponsors and of course: the winners.
- PensionTech From Blockchain to Big Data to smart ALM software, disruptive technological 'FinTech' innovations are set to transform the pension industry. So how can pension schemes benefit from the 'PensionTech' revolution?
- Looking to the future After years of deliberation and research the Dutch pension sector is ready for change. But what will a new and improved pension system look like? On 22 June the industry convenes in Eye Film Museum to picture the future. Pensioen Pro reports.

Features in the 'Investing' section:

- Equity Update: a case for ETFs? Pension funds have been slow to embrace ETFs as passive fund strategies and futures have offered far more cost-efficient solutions. But as cost drops and niche-market access and convenience increase, should pension schemes reconsider?
- Briefing: European Equities What's in store for European Equities in light of the current volatile mix of economic, political and regulatory forces affecting the European continent?
- Investing in: Alternatives Dutch pension funds are increasingly eyeing a 'meat-and-potatoes' approach, aiming to match nominal liabilities with plain vanilla liquid investments, while gravitating to alternative categories to provide a bit of meat to go with the potatoes. But some alternative investment categories fit the bill better than others. We review the main alternatives and chart how they may augment pension fund portfolios.

Powered by

